

Mr. Yiannis Chontoulidis is a Senior Manager in Ernst & Young's Advisory Services practice in Athens, Greece. As a key member of the IT Risk and Assurance team, Mr. Chontoulidis has been involved in a plethora of related IT audit and advisory engagements. He holds an M.Sc. degree in Analysis, Design and Management Information Systems from the London School of Economics and Political Science and a Ptychion in Economics from the University of Piraeus. He is a member of the Athens Chapter ISACA and a Certified Information Systems Auditor (CISA) since 2003. He has over 11 years of experience in the domain of Information Systems Audit and Risk Management. He specializes in Data Analytics with the use of various tools and techniques and has been actively involved in the application of advanced Computer Assisted Audit Techniques (CAATs) and in internal audit optimization with the use of audit analytics. Mr. Chontoulidis is also an active member of the Ernst & Young's Global Telecommunications Revenue Assurance Core Team. In this context he has participated in Ernst & Young international initiatives for the development of global methodologies and services related to IT risk & control in the specific sector.