

Mr. Yannis Dracoulis is the head of the Greek Fraud Investigation and Dispute Services practice of Ernst & Young which also houses the Corporate & Regulatory Compliance Services. He holds a LLM in Fraud and Forensics from the University of Edinburgh, a MSc in Information Technology from Heriot-Watt University in Edinburgh and a BSc in Economics from University of Piraeus, Greece. Mr. Dracoulis is a holder of Certified Fraud Examiner (CFE) designation and Certified Information Systems Auditor (CISA) professional certificate. His expertise includes fraud, integrity and compliance breach investigations, look backs and remediation plans, process design and development, risk assessment, information processing systems and fraud controls, scenarios and programs. He has significant experience in working on complex, international engagements like forensic investigations, FCPA/UK Bribery act compliance reviews, FCPA due diligences, anti fraud advisory programs and litigation support for dispute cases. Mr. Dracoulis is a member in leading professional organizations such as Hellenic Association of Certified Fraud Examiners (HACFE) and Information Systems Audit & Control Association (ISACA). He has been the main speaker at several Greek and international conferences and published several articles relevant to fraud prevention.

